The Parliamentary Elections—The Liberal Majority.
LONDON, Sunday evening, Nov. 22, 1863.

The election returns now in show that the liberals have at least 160 majority in a full House. It is estimated that they will have 130 majority on the amendment which will be proposed to the Parliamentary address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Some people are disposed to think that such strength of numbers will be dangerous to the liberals, fearing that it will tend to produce discord in the party. This apprehension is, perhaps, exaggerated, as nearly all the liberals who have been elected have pledged themselves to their constituents to sustain Mr. Gladstone, and the fate of the Adullamites, who have all come to grief, is a warning to others.

Two fortunate results are considered to have been secured—viz., the displacement of the conservatives and the acquisition of power sufficient to exert a decisive pressure on the House of Lords for pushing through the measures for the disestablishment of the Irish Church.

The aristocratic section of the whig party is charged with intrigues to have the Earl Granville invited by the Queen to form a new ministry, and the radicals are indignant at this underhanded course.

It is anticipated that the new House of Commons will be on the whole remarkably practical and business-like in character. The exclusion of Mr. Osborne, Mr. Roebuck and other eccentric individuals is a matter of general congratulation; nor is the loss of the conservative lawyers, including the Attorney General and Solicitor General, much lamented.

Regret is felt that none of the workmen's candidates, who failed for want of money and organization, will be in the House to represent that new element in the government.

The elections in the counties have not all been finished, but they will be completed before the end of this week.

The Trial of Minister Mejia, of the War and Navy—False Rumors from Puebla—What is to be President Grant's Policy Towards Mexico?
HAYANA, Nov. 23, 1863.

An arrival from Vera Cruz brings the following intelligence from the interior:—
The resignation of General Mejia, Minister of War, about to be tried for unauthorized expenditure of public moneys, is considered certain. General Diaz, Alatorre and Bernabaz are spoken of as prominent candidates for the office.

The report that an insurrection had been organized in the Sierra de Puebla by Mendez and Negrete proved to be unfounded. That part of the country is in a state of tranquillity.

The Mexican journals are discussing the probable line of policy to be followed by the new United States Minister, General Rosecrans, and indulge in much speculation as to what action General Grant, on assuming his Presidential office, will take concerning the relations of Mexico and the United States.

The Mexican Minister of the Treasury has issued a circular complaining that the officers of many of the custom houses display the orders of the Department at Mexico and act altogether according to their own will.

A Report from New Orleans that Escobedo Has Been Routed and Has Resigned—The Rebels in Tamaulipas Too Strong for Him.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23, 1863.

The Times this evening copies from the Brownsville Ranchero extra, dated the 12th inst., letters from Monterrey, received the previous night. They state that Escobedo, having gone from Tampico to Victoria for the purpose of commencing the Tamaulipas campaign jointly with the troops from Matamoros, was surprised by the entire force of Vargas at the Hacienda de Alamos. Escobedo was defeated, barely escaping with a few of his staff to Monterrey. Escobedo's forces fought badly, and before the fight was over hurried for Vargas and Canales, and finally declared in favor of the rebels.

Escobedo attempted to collect his forces at Monterrey, but failed, the soldiers refusing to march to fight against their Tamaulipas brethren. Escobedo, seeing this complicated state of affairs, sent in his resignation, declaring himself incapable of putting down the Tamaulipas revolution.

The forces at Victoria under Lopez and Montesinos becoming demoralized disbanded themselves, a large portion of them coming to Monterrey. It is believed by this time Tampico has pronounced, as well as other towns in the State, and soon the entire State will be in the hands of Vargas.

OHIO.

Meeting of the Legislature—The Governor's Message.
COLUMBUS, Nov. 23, 1863.

The Governor's message was read before the General Assembly to-day. He says:—
The financial condition of the State is satisfactory. The report of the commissioners for revising the laws relating to the financial system of the State was submitted to the last session. Their report was accompanied by eight separate bills for consolidating the present laws. These bills have already been considered in both branches of the Legislature. I recommend their adoption, with such amendments as your judgment and the public interest may require. The abuse of the elective franchise requires the attention of the General Assembly at the present session, and I submit the propriety of amendments to the election laws for the representation of minorities in the boards of judges and clerks of election and the registration of voters in each township, ward and precinct prior to the election. The interests of the common schools will be promoted by the early adoption of a county superintendent, as provided in a bill now pending in one branch of the Assembly. I earnestly recommend the consideration and adoption of the bill, which contains a proclamation was issued to prevent the spreading of the cattle disease. I respectfully recommend that authority be given to appoint two commissioners to attend the meeting of the commissioners of other States, to be held at Springfield, Ill., on the 1st of December next, and report the result in time for the action of the present Assembly.

AMUSEMENTS.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—The stage of the Opéra Broadway was last evening trodden by feet that never stepped unwelcome on its boards. Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams, that whom the American stage boasts no more clever or more popular artists, made their rebutte last night at this establishment in two of their side-splitting plays, entitled "The Fairy Circle" and "An Hour in Seville," and were rapturously received with round after round of applause from their enthusiastic auditors. The house was filled to repletion and actors and audience were in harmonious accord with one another, thereby imparting to the evening's entertainment an agreeable pleasantness which is seldom attainable upon occasions of this nature. It is many months since Mr. and Mrs. Williams have appeared before the New York public to delight them with their vivacious and sparkling impersonations of Irish peasant life and laudable protestantism; but their absence from these old-time public favorites have lost none of that bright and original historic fire which in days gone by made them the most popular and successful players of our metropolis. Seldom if ever before did an audience indulge in such unrestrained and genuine laughter, and never before did these two artists appear with such advantage as marked their reappearance upon the boards last evening. Time has dealt gently with the rollicking Barney and his wife, and they are as fresh and vigorous as to-day just as fresh, vigorous and free from straining after false effects as it was years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Williams were the most popular and successful players of our metropolis.
